

Modi a man of ‘profound inner power’: Brazilian Vedanta teacher

New Delhi (UNI)
Acharya Jonas Masetti, Brazilian Vedanta teacher recognised for spreading Indian spiritualism and philosophy in Brazil, has described Prime Minister Narendra Modi as a man of ‘profound inner power guided by something greater than himself.” Acharya Masetti, one of two foreigners awarded Padma Shri this year, in a message on the occasion of the Prime Minister turning 75, said Prime Minister Modi’s presence carries Shakti, a quiet force that transforms the atmosphere around him.

“In Prime Minister Modi, I did not just see a political leader, but a man of profound inner power, guided by something greater than himself. His presence carries sakti — a quiet force that transforms the atmosphere around him. Modi-ji’s leadership is not only political, it is deeply spiritual in the most silent and authentic way.” He said in his message.

Rising from simple beginnings not through privilege but through purpose, at 75, Prime Minister Modi stands as a beacon — reminding us that true greatness is measured not by status, but by the depth of one’s purpose. His unwavering commitment reflects an understanding that Bharat’s future rests not just on economics or geopolitics, but on dharma, identity, and soul.”

The Acharya said he has had the privilege of seeing Prime Minister Modi up close not once, but several times and each time, he felt he wasn’t just in the presence of a political leader, but of a man with profound inner power, whose life seems to be guided by something greater than himself.

The Acharya said the first time he had met the Prime Minister was unforgettable.

It was in Brazil, and I was there to receive him—not as a politician, but as the living symbol of a tradition that has transformed my life. Along with my students, I stood to chant Vedic mantras as he arrived.

Shah calls for swift deportation and extradition of drug traffickers operating from abroad

New Delhi (UNI)
In a strong message aimed at tightening the noose around international drug syndicates and fugitive criminals, Union Home Minister Amit Shah today emphasised the urgent need for expediting both deportation and extradition processes.

Addressing the 2nd National Conference of Anti-Narcotics Task Force (ANTF) heads of states and union Territories here, Shah underlined that those fuelling drug trafficking and operating from foreign soil must be swiftly brought under the ambit of Indian law.

Praising the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) for its efforts in this field, Shah called for coordinated and collective action stating that curbing narcotics not only addresses drug abuse but also weakens the funding channels for terrorism and organized crime.

Shah further stressed that while criminals deserve no leniency, India must adopt a more pragmatic and liberal approach to the procedures involved in their deportation. Adding that the Home Ministry is preparing a SOP for the same.

He outlined the government’s intensified crackdown on drug trafficking, stating that arrests at the retail level are now being used as a strategic tool to dismantle the entire narcotics network operating in the country. He said the focus has shifted to targeting all three levels of drug cartels.

“Now, by arresting those involved in the retail trade of drugs, efforts are being made not only to reduce drug trafficking but also to strike a severe blow to all three types of cartels,” Shah said.

He detailed the three layers of the drug distribution network: cartels that operate at India’s entry points, syndicates responsible for distributing drugs from those points to different states and the local-level networks that manufacture and sell small packets (pudiyas) through paan shops and street corners.

Shah emphasized that this multi-pronged approach is essential for eliminating the drug menace, which he linked directly to the funding of terrorism and other organized crimes.

He said, “In this fight against drugs, we must move forward with a three-pronged strategy. We need a ruthless approach for breaking the drug supply chain, a strategic approach for reducing demand and a humane approach for harm reduction. The Anti-Narcotics Task Force (ANTF) must advance with all three approaches”.

Hailing the NDA government in dealing with drug menace Shah said, “During the UPA government, drugs worth Rs 40,000 crore were seized, whereas under the NDA government, drugs worth Rs 1.65 lakh crore have been seized in the past 10 years. Which is a significant achievement”.

Rajnath Singh urges commanders to strengthen India’s Sudarshan Chakra

New Delhi (UNI)
Terming India’s defence sector as an amalgamation of the “offensive and defensive capabilities”, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh today called upon the Commanders to be proactive in their approach and strive to build the Sudarshan Chakra as envisioned by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Stating that a committee has been formed to examine the project and prepare a “realistic action plan”, the Minister suggested devising a medium-term plan for the next five years and a long-term plan for the next ten years to bring the vision to fruition.

The Defence Minister addressed the Combined Commanders’ Conference 2025 in Kolkata, a Defence Ministry statement said.

Rajnath emphasised the need for constant assessment of the changes taking place across the globe and its impact on the security system of the country, in view of the turbulent global order, regional instability and emerging security landscape.

Asserting that the nature of warfare is continuously evolving, and the recent global conflicts have underlined the relevance of a “technology-friendly” military, the Minister said, “wars of today are so sudden and unpredictable that it is extremely difficult to foretell its duration. It can be two months, a year, or even five years.

We need to be prepared. We need to ensure that our surge capacity remains sufficient”.

Highlighting that the country’s defence sector is centered around modernisation, operational readiness, technological superiority and credible deterrence, he called for focusing on the mantra of “JAI (Jointness, Aatmanirbharta and Innovation)” given by Prime Minister in the inaugural session of the conference yesterday.

High profile celebrities summoned by ED in 1xBet Money Laundering Probe

New Delhi (UNI)
The Enforcement Directorate (ED) has summoned cricketers Robin Uthappa and Yuvraj Singh and Bollywood actor Sonu Sood for questioning in the 1xBet Money Laundering case.

Sources told UNI that the agency has scheduled their appearances at its Delhi headquarters on different days. Robin Uthappa is required to appear on September 22, followed by Yuvraj Singh on September 23, and Sonu Sood on September 24.

According to ED sources, these celebrities had participated in promotional campaigns for 1xBet, which significantly helped the illegal platform build a substantial user base in India despite its prohibition.

The agency also issued a statement expressing concern about a new threat emerging from the recent ban on regulated money gaming apps. It warned of a potential rise in illegal betting platforms targeting users in India and emphasized the need for focused strategies to counter this challenge.

Officials provided staggering figures to illustrate the scale of the problem, noting that in the first quarter of this year alone, illegal betting websites received more than one billion hits.
